The papers called for are put up. It will be seen from G.O. No 9238-39 dated the 8th January, 1906, that the Amildar of Tarikere did obtain a certificate from the Native Pandit in charge of the Vaidyasala at that town in view to ascertain the truth or otherwise of the allegation of a Sheikdar that he was ill, but not to grant him leave on the strength of that certificate and that therefore the Amildar did not [illegible] act in contravention of the provisions of article 449 of the M.S.R. (Corresponding to article 467 of the 3rd edn of the Regulations)

What the Offg Senior Surgeon now wants to know is whether the term "medical attendant" used in article 467 of the M.S.R may be taken to include Vaidyans and Hakeems who are unqualified in the strict sense of that term.

Art 467 M.S.R requires in certain cases a certificate from the applicant's medical attendant. The certificate is required to be countersigned by the D.t medical & Sanitary Officer who may at his discretion (under Art 468) require the applicant to appear before him. The articles do not restrict the terms "applicant's medical attendant" to medical men with any particular qualifications & I do not see why a native Vydian a Hakim should not grant such certificates if he is the applicant's medical attendant. The condition that the certificate should be counter-signed by the D.t medical & San.y Officer & the discretion granted to him in Art 468 to require the applicant's personal attendance before him for examination ought, I think, suffice to safeguard public interests & to ensure that certificates are not granted ~~without~~ ~~recklessly~~ & without adequate justification.
